

Ankle Pain

Are you getting ankle pain? You may have an obvious reason for this, like a recent sprain! However sometimes there is a not so obvious reason.

Either way it is important to have it checked out by a qualified Sports Podiatrist. The ankle is an important weight bearing joint. It can be affected by arthritis, ligament injury, fractures and various other pathologies. A thorough assessment is essential for a correct diagnosis so that the right treatment choice can be provided for you. We aim to give you the best professional advice and care possible here at Peak Podiatry.
